Grant writing for language activists and linguists
University of California at Santa Barbara, June 24-28, 2008

Margaret Florey
Monash University
Spike Gildea
University of Oregon
Knut Olawsky
Mirima Dawang Woorlab-Gerring Language and Culture Centre
Susan Penfield
University of Arizona
Day 5

- Budget and referees
  - This class focuses on preparing a budget and prioritizing budget items.
  - Participants will also identify potential referees for their grant application and consider finding readers for the draft proposal.
Pitfalls—what makes a grant application fail?

- Not having clearly stated and/or realistic goals
- Budget items that don't match your work plan
- Over-inflated or poorly justified budget
- Participants
  - Applicant doesn't seem credible (not clear they are the person to carry out the work, or that they are ready to undertake this project)
  - Other participants' roles not clearly specified
- Background research/literature review incomplete
- Little or no evidence of community support and involvement
- No evidence that materials will be returned to the community
- No appropriate archiving plan
Day 5— exercise 1
(~30 minutes)

- Working in a small group
- Budgets
- Consider your project and the timeline that you have prepared. Now you need to start preparing a budget for the project.
  - What budget categories will your project need?
  - What are the requirements for equipment?
  - What are the requirements for travel?

- What are the requirements for personnel? For example:
  - How many people will be involved and how much time will each person be involved?
  - How much will you pay elders / speakers? Other project participants?
  - How much time will you need to process the data you have recorded?

- Prioritise the budget items:
  - What is essential to allow the project to commence?
  - What might be sought from another agency?
  - What could wait until phase 2 of the project?
Day 5— exercise 2 (~10 minutes)

- Working in a small group
- Referees
  - Choose three people who you think will be appropriate referees for this project. Try to select referees who represent different aspects of your project.
  - For each person, write a sentence justifying why you think they are an appropriate referee
Readers

- It will be helpful to find other people (as many as possible) to read through your draft application and to give you feedback.
- Ask experts and non-experts; community members and outsiders.
Day 5—exercise 3 (~30 minutes)

- Work in pairs with someone you have not worked with through the week.
- Peer review
  - Exchange your summary and work plans with each other.
  - Take turns to role play being a member of a grant review panel.
  - Give each other feedback on the summary and work plans.
  - Would you make an award for this proposal? Give reasons for your decision.
  - What changes might you recommend the applicant consider making?