Ling 70
Assignment 6
Confidential group self-evaluation
Due March 17 via email

This assignment is optional. You do not need to complete this assignment, but doing so may have an impact on the term project grades of you and your groupmates. Without this feedback, I will assume that your group work was fairly distributed, and each member of your group will receive the same grade on your project.

Although this assignment pertains to group work, it is to be done individually.

We understand that working in groups can be taxing, as the collaborative aspect can be as challenging as the completion of the required material. With this in mind, we feel it is important to receive feedback about whether your collaboration went smoothly. In the past, group work in this class has generally gone smoothly, with workload distributed fairly, but there is always a risk that a group may owe its success to one individual’s efforts, and despite another individual’s relative lack thereof. This assignment is meant to redress any such situation.

Provide an evaluation of how your group members performed as you worked together on your final project. In particular, specify whether you believe each member did their fair share of the workload, and whether you think the workload was fairly balanced among you. In other words, would it be fair to give everyone in your group the same grade? Does any individual deserve a higher or lower letter grade than any other individual in your group?

Be sure to include an assessment of yourself in this as well. Keep in mind, this evaluation may result in a grade adjustment (positive or negative) for an individual’s project grade.

Please submit this via email. It need not be in pdf or Word format; the body of the email message is sufficient. Your evaluation will not be shared with anyone.